Resource Title	Forest Areas
Resource Abstract	Forests are one of the formative landscape elements in the Alps where almost half (45.5%) of the area is covered by woodland. Consequently, the Alps rank among the most densely forested regions in Europe. Woodland areas in the Alps are increasing slowly but continuously, particularly in areas where traditional agricultural uses have been abandoned. In many cases this happens to the detriment of traditional cultural landscapes that are often rich in species.

Lineage	The indicator represents the percentage of area covered by forests per total municipality area. To identify such areas, the Forests High Resolution Layer was used as data source; land cover types falling in the classes 1 – broadleaved

	forests, and 2 – coniferous forests, were selected to identify forest-covered areas. Data sources: Copernicus Land Monitoring Services: High Resolution Layer, Forests, resolution: 20x20 m
